Oji Group Establishes Responsible AI Policy
Creating Value through AI Use while Respecting Human Rights

Oji Holdings (CEO: Hiroyuki Isono, Head office: Tokyo) hereby announces that it has established the Oji Group Responsible AI Policy, which sets out the Oji Group's fundamental approach to the responsible use of artificial intelligence (AI).

We recognize that while the use of AI can contribute to greater operational efficiency, enhanced productivity, and innovation, it may also have impacts on human rights, privacy, fairness, cybersecurity, and other areas.

In accordance with the Oji Group Human Rights Policy, the Oji Group Responsible AI Policy sets out fundamental principles for the responsible use of AI, including respect for human rights, respect for data privacy, ensuring cybersecurity, fairness and the avoidance of potential bias, appropriate human oversight and intervention, transparency, and the scope and limitations of AI use.

With regard to adverse human rights impacts related to the use of AI, the Oji Group will apply its existing human rights due diligence framework to identify, assess, prevent, and mitigate such impacts.

Under this Policy, the Oji Group is committed to using AI responsibly while respecting human rights, thereby contributing to sustainable value creation.
